The buzz around town is that it's College Application and Exploration Week in West Virginia! You know what that means, reporters? There's a story that needs your attention!

Here's the assignment: interview an adult in your life about their educational journey that led them to their chosen career. In other words, what do they do for a living and why?

Video your interview. Consider, with permission from your interviewee and your parent or guardian, posting it to your/parent/guardians' social media platform, so that others can learn from your report.
